Garages are inherently dangerous places, and operating your own opens you to tremendous risks. Partnering with a national provider reduces that exposure — and your insurance premiums.

ELIMINATE RIST

Inoperable vehicles negatively impact your ROI, your bottom line, and your customers. A national provider should be willing to set up shop near you or onsite and can reach remote locations or stranded vehicles with a mobile service center.

Few maintenance providers and even fewer in-house facilities can handle every vehicle, equipment, and fuel type, but Amerit can.

SAVE MONEY

Amerit minimizes costly repeats and breakdowns by investing heavily in training and managing technicians, performs repairs on your schedule to reduce downtime, and leverages its nationwide buying power to manage the costs of parts, fluids, and other costly items.

Maintenance is not a 9-to-5 job. A national provider will schedule around your needs, performing service at night or on weekends for vehicles that need to be running during work hours.
